OIL and GAS NEWS

The A'wreco well is reported today at a depth of 1370 feet.

W. A. Thompson, who has Healdton field interests, is here from Marietta looking after business affairs.

Producers' Oil company, which is building at least one steel tank in the field, is represented here by M. H. Connors of Tulsa.

George A. Todd of Ponca City, who will be superintendent of the Gainesville refinery when it begins operations, was an Ardmore visitor last night and went out to the fields today.

Supply Man Here.

A. H. Davis of Tulsa is here representing the Bovaard Supply company. This is Mr. Davis' first trip here within six months, and he says the activity has grown wonderfully in that length of time. His company is contemplating putting in a supply store, but so far has done nothing in that direction.

Is Dawson Tithing?

K. W. Dawson, who was president of the Mutual Benefit Oil company, which purchased a very profitable lease in the Healdton field and sold it to the Corsicana Petroleum company, has given $3,000 to the Pilgrim Congregational church in Oklahoma City. Mr. Dawson owned one-seventh of the company, he paid $1,000 as his initial investment, and took down something like $30,000 when the sale was made. He may be tithing, for the reason that it seems he gave about one-tenth of the amount he received.

Good Business Deal.

F. H. Thwing of Kansas City, president of the Producers Pipe Line company, is here, and is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Harriet. In company with other parties they left here this morning for the fields. Miss Thwing came with her father to see the oil fields in the midst of a great activity, and Mr. Thwing came to look after the construction work of the refinery, the pipe line and the pump station. Mr. Thwing said his company was bending every energy to get ready to make oil runs by the 20th of the month, but he feared that he could not do so before the first of November. The hauling of the heavy machinery to the pump station site has consumed more time than the company expected.

Mr. Thwing purchased at one time five and a half millions barrels of oil for 30c a barrel, and it is reasonable to presume that in executing that one contract he made as much as three million dollars. The way oil is selling at this time, his contract is netting him $75 a day, or would be if he were ready to handle oil, and before it expires the chances are good that his contract will be netting him as much as $5,000 a day. That result will come to him when oil advances to $1 a barrel.

FOUR HUNDRED HAVE SIGNED AGREEMENT

MANY OF THE CLAIMANTS HAVE ALREADY ENROLLED NAMES, EXPRESSING WILLINGNESS TO SETTLE WITH SANTA FE.

Four hundred names had been enrolled with the citizens' committee up to last night, signifying their willingness to submit their claims to that body for adjustment. Ex-Governor Lee Cruce stated this morning that he believed that six hundred would be about the total number, when all were accounted for. Of this number, many have been paid, and their cases closed. A number of people have settled their claims direct with the Santa Fe officials, who are in the city.

Following is the total, filed up to noon today.
